BECOME A

STUDENT MEMBER

of the AMERICAN DIETETIC ASSOCIATION and gain access to member-only resources designed to help further your knowledge and jump start your career.

GET A HEAD START

Fill out the enclosed application or go to www.eatright.org to apply online. In just a few minutes, you'll be on your way to boosting your learning and earning potential.

"I joined ADA to become a part of the largest organization of nutrition professionals. The resources made available to members and the support provided to students from the association is astounding. I know for certain that I will be a lifelong member."

ADA membership serves up many benefits for dietetics students, including five you can use RIGHT NOW:

- 1 Find ADA scholarships. Look to ADA for new sources of information on financial aid, including a wide variety of scholarships offered only to ADA members.
  - 2 Search for specific jobs. Use ADACareerLink, our online job service, to post your résumé or respond directly to employers' job listings. With ADACareerLink, you can search by job specialty and/or geographic location, and receive e-mail alerts about new postings.
  - 3 Network with other dietetics students and food and nutrition practitioners. You'll find that ADA members are willing to share their experience and expertise with each other. Start networking and gain real-world insights when you join one of ADA's dietetic practice groups or member interest groups, many of which have student rates. You can also join the online Student Community of Interest, as well as the state affiliate association of your choice. Student members enjoy discounted registration rates for the annual Food & Nutrition Conference & Expo (FNCE), September 24-27 in San Diego, CA. Come to FNCE for the Industry Expo and the Student Track that includes a reception and educational sessions.
  - 4 Access research you can use in class now. The online Evidence Analysis Library provides 24/7 access to the best scientific and evidence-based information on hot topics like childhood overweight, disorders of lipid metabolism, adult weight management, and nutrition for the critically ill. The Journal of the American Dietetic Association online features fully-searchable access to the premier source for the practice and science of food, nutrition, and dietetics. These are just a few of the many online resources you can use to gather information and the latest research you need for your dietetics classes.
  - 5 Learn about the profession. Whether you're gathering information for a class project or studying the dietetics profession, ADA publications contain all the information you need. When you join, you'll automatically receive:
    - Student Scoop: Published five times a school year, this online publication provides information on student leadership opportunities and activities.
    - ADA Times: This quarterly magazine features the challenges you face in the field, new professional trends that could affect your career and issues that may challenge the way you think and feel about relevant topics.
    - Journal of the American Dietetic Association: The premier source for the practice and science of food, nutrition and dietetics.
- And don't forget to sign up to receive the Daily News: A daily e-mail that provides up-to-the-minute leading food, nutrition and health news.

Start your successful career right now. Apply online at www.eatright.org

DIETETIC PRACTICE GROUPS (DPGs) are professional-interest groups that provide opportunities for leadership, career development and networking. MEMBER INTEREST GROUPS (MIGs) are groups of ADA members who share a common interest. MIGs focus on areas other than the practice of dietetics or geographic location. Please carefully check the box(es) corresponding to the DPG(s) and MIG(s) you wish to join. Consult the DPG Web sites for individual DPG submit information. Membership in DPGs and MIGs will begin on June 1, 2011 and run through May 31, 2012.

THE AMERICAN DIETETIC ASSOCIATION IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY ORGANIZATION.

American Dietetic Association (ADA) dues must be paid in full based upon your membership category and are non-refundable and non-transferable and include allocations of $18.94 for the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, $4.50 for ADA Times and 20% for membership in the state affiliate dietetic association. ADA dues are not deductible as charitable contributions but dues may be deductible as ordinary business expenses. It is estimated that 16% of the total dues amount is allocated to lobbying activity and is therefore not deductible. If accepted as a member, I agree to abide by the Code of Ethics for the Profession of Dietetics, the ADA Bylaws and regulations, and to hold harmless the Association, its members and employees for their activities in enforcing them. I also consent to receive any faxes or e-mails that ADA and its related organizations (affiliates and DPGs) may elect to send to me.

Please read and initial the following communication option

I consent to receive communications sent by or on behalf of ADA, Partners and Premier Sponsors via regular mail or e-mail. These organizations are part of ADA's Corporate Relations Sponsorship program and they support ADA members in providing nutrition messages that improve the nation's health. YES _____ NO _____
